The contents even include a pair of gloves, safety goggles and a mixing bucket to not only help eradicate your condensation problem, but eradicate any safety queries you have using our innovative condensation mould kits.

Alternatively, for a small fixed fee, our specialist team can do it for you giving you the peace of mind and extra time to relax and know that your condensation mould problem will soon be eradicated!

Why washing off Condensation Mould doesn't work!

Trying to wash off condensation mould simply doesn't work! Typically, you could spend 3 to 4 hours washing down your walls or ceiling a couple of times followed by the extra time to repaint, or maybe hiring a decorator at an approx cost of £40+ per hour. This could easily cost you around £300, along with the extra time spent having to prepare the walls or ceiling before going ahead with the repainting.

Unless you change the way you live in the property, improve the air flow, or use a fungicide within the affected area, all your efforts to eradicate your condensation mould problem will be in vain with the result of your condensation mould returning to the infected area within a short period of time.

Our condensation mould kits are specifically designed to help you with a straight forward solution in a very inexpensive way and prevent condensation mould returning to the affected area.
